SUSTAINABLE CAMPUS GUIDE

Get involved!

- Would you like to help shape the sustainable development of the university?
- Would you like to meet like-minded people and exchange ideas on sustainability projects?
- Do you have ideas on how we can make the university even more sustainable?

Then Hohenheim offers plenty of opportunities to get involved!

With this guide, we show you easy ways to discover the sustainable campus, act sustainably, get to know like-minded people, and help shape the university.

Sustainability at the University of Hohenheim

The University of Hohenheim was founded in 1818 in response to the "Year Without Summer" and the resulting devastating famines. Its mission: To use scientific knowledge to put nutrition and production on a sustainable footing, from which future generations can also benefit permanently and reliably. In addition to intensive basic research, the University of Hohenheim has always been committed to the tradition of developing innovative solutions to pressing social issues.

The topic of sustainability has been a central founding idea of the University of Hohenheim throughout its history and is constantly being advanced – and you can be part of it and help shape it!

Green Office

The Green Office is the central and structurally anchored contact and coordination point for the topic of sustainability. It bundles university-wide sustainability activities, makes them visible, and networks stakeholders to create synergies. It raises awareness of the topic of sustainability through various workshops, activities, and projects and through its presence at university-wide events.

Together with staff members, students, lecturers and other sustainability enthusiasts, the Green Office establishes a culture of sustainability on campus – and anyone can take part.

AKN – Sustainability Working Group

The Arbeitskreis Nachhaltigkeit is the umbrella organisation of student-driven sustainability activities.

The AKN promotes green students initiatives as well as a thriving campus through interactive events. We believe universities should be inspiring places that give us the skills to address our global challenges.

Join us if you want to meet other people interested in sustainability, want to promote change in Hohenheim, and learn more about sustainability.

Student groups & initiatives

At the University of Hohenheim, there are many ways in which students and staff members can get involved in everyday university life and make a difference together with others.

Help shape university policy, campus development, and cooperation

Student groups enrich life on campus and move the university forward, while reflecting the diverse interests of students. There are cultural, ecological, political, social etc. groups which are open for anyone who is interested.

Green Teams at the Green Office

The Green Teams, which are coordinated by the Green Office, offer staff members and students the opportunity to participate in projects and structural developments relating to sustainability at the university in five areas.

- Green Team Studying & Teaching: Enabling education for Sustainable Development
- Green Team Campus & Infrastructure: Driving forward climate neutrality on campus
- Green Team Research & Innovation: Promoting sustainable research
- Green Team Governance & Strategy: Embedding sustainability strategically
- Green Team Culture & Transfer: Establishing a culture of sustainability
